

As You Press Your Lips to the rim of a cool goblet of Ballantine's Export, realize that it is

- ☞ Guaranteed pure beyond the shadow of a doubt.
- ☞ Made of selected grain, malt and hops by those who know how.
- ☞ The result of nearly four-score years experience in brewing.
- ☞ Not only of delightful flavor, but beneficial to your system.
- ☞ Bottled at the Brewery under modern hygienic conditions.

☞ By this time the glass is finished, and you will experience the same satisfaction which hundreds of thousands of daily users of Ballantine's Export know so well.

☞ Why not order now a case of two dozen bottles of Ballantine's Export? Ask your grocer or dealer to deliver it. If they do not have it, drop us a postal card or telephone 1751 Market and see how soon it will arrive at your home.

BALLANTINE'S BREWERIES

NEWARK, N. J.

SALE OF TICKETS FOR STAR FUND'S BENEFIT LARGE

Success Assured for "The Mikado," Now Only Two Days Off.

With the time of the production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" but two days off and the completion of the arrangements for the big event which is to be given by the Newark Opera Club for the benefit of the STAR'S Free Ice and Outing Fund, interest in the performance runs high and the sale of tickets for the novel open-air satire on the "Emperor of Japan and his daughter-in-law-elect" is remarkable. The opera will be given at the grounds of the Park A. A., at Lincoln and Belleville avenues, two evenings, Thursday and Friday of this week.

A large stage has been erected at the park and electric light circuits run in from the Park A. A. Club-house, which will light up the stage, and, with the clever arrangement of lanterns and Japanese umbrellas, will give to the pretty playground a decidedly oriental effect. Voss's orchestra, under the leadership of Herr Leon Braun, of New York, has been engaged for the two performances, and this fact in itself proves that the orchestra end will be well taken care of. Mr. Braun is a well-known conductor of New York, and has had charge of many big productions in Manhattan. Voss's orchestra is too well known in this city to need any introduction.

The cast which will present the ideal Japanese light opera is made up of singers, all of whom are well known in musical circles in Newark, both for their work in theatrical performances and for their church choir work.

As Ko Ko, the lord high executioner, the Newark Opera Club has been fortunate enough to secure George Paxton, the coach of the club, and formerly a well-known member of comic opera companies all over the United States. He has played the part many hundreds of times, and Newarkers are assured of a treat in his handling of the screamingly funny part Nanki-Poo, son of the Mikado, who has had to flee his father's court because of the love and machinations of Katisha, will be played by Warren C. Biggin, perhaps the best known of the local singers in the cast. Mr. Biggin has a charming voice of wonderful range, and his presentation of the role of the lovesick Japanese swain is most clever. The "three little maids from school"—Yum Yum, the ward of Ko Ko; Pitti-Sing and Peep-Bo—will be played by Miss Caroline F. Schaller, Miss Edith Speer and Miss Alice Nichols. Miss Schaller's performance of Yum Yum has been commented on most favorably by many critics who have been present at rehearsals, as has the work of her two school companions.

Leo G. Stanley will enact the role of

PRINCIPAL CHARACTERS IN 'THE MIKADO' ARRANGED FOR STAR OUTING BENEFIT

Pish-Tush, and Pooh-Bah, lord high everything else, will be played by James M. Gould. Ernest P. Fredericks will appear as the "most humane Mikado" that ever did in Japan exist, and Katisha will be in the hands of Miss Eleanor Kennedy, of New York. Walter H. Higbie will be the uproariously funny Nee Bau, umbrella-bearer to the Mikado.

A special feature will be a Japanese dance, especially arranged for thirty-two school children. Those who have seen this dance say that it is beautiful, and the youngsters' work will undoubtedly be one of the hits of the performance.

The first scene will be the court-

Miss Caroline F. Schaller

Leo G. Stanley

yard outside of Ko Ko's official residence, while the second act will show Ko Ko's garden. The clubhouse of the Park A. A. will be turned over to the opera club on the nights of the performances. Special thanks are due the Republican Indian League of New Jersey for their kindness in allowing the club to use their pretty rooms in the Iroquois building, in Washington street, for rehearsals. The donation of the rooms, which otherwise must have been paid for, means a substantial increase to the fund.

The complete cast is as follows:
Mikado Ernest P. Fredericks
Ko Ko, lord high executioner George Paxton
Pish Tush, a noble lord Leo G. Stanley
Pooh Bah, lord high everything else James M. Gould
Nanki Poo, son of the Mikado Warren C. Biggin
Yum Yum, ward of Ko Ko Miss Caroline F. Schaller
Pitti Sing, ward of Ko Ko Miss Edith Speer
Peep Bo Miss Alice Nichols
Nee Bau, umbrella-bearer to the Mikado Walter H. Higbie

MANY REPUBLICANS SEEK OFFICE IN SIXTEENTH.

The Sixteenth Ward Republican Executive Committee tomorrow night will try to select candidates for ward officers. The freeholder contest promises to be an exciting one and the fight for aldermanic honors is between Alderman W. K. Secker, who wants a re-nomination; Charles W. Littlefield and George Merritt. J. Louis Huber will probably be endorsed for justice of the peace and Hugo Zikel for constable.

Those seeking the freeholdership endorsement are Henry P. George, Reuben Odell, August Nodel and former School Commissioner Fred J. Neese.

WOMAN ILL ON STREET.

ELIZABETH, July 19.—Miss E. Gibson, of 542 Greer avenue, was seized with convulsions yesterday in Broad street in front of St. John's Episcopal Church. Women walking by at the time cared for her until the arrival of the ambulance of the Elizabeth General Hospital, in which she was taken to her home.

BULL RING FEATS HELP MAKE WILD WEST A SUCCESS

Performances to Be Given Under Auspices of Salaam Temple, Mystic Shriners.

Bill Pickett, an Oklahoma half-breed cowboy, the only man who ever succeeded in overcoming a wild bull with his bare hands, will be one of the features at each of the four performances of 101 Ranch, the thrilling outdoor human picture drama of real wild West life that is to be given tomorrow and Thursday at Sussex avenue and First street.

The performances will be given by the Miller Brothers & Arlington show, and will be under the auspices of the Arab Patrol of Salaam Temple, Mystic Shrine, which will use the money derived for the purpose of sending the patrol to the Imperial Council meeting in Rochester, N. Y., next July.

It was down in Mexico, the home of bull-fighters, that Bill Pickett first performed the feat that startled the Mexicans, who are used to starting feats in the bull ring. Mounted on a little Oklahoma pony Pickett dashed into the bull ring unarmed. Circling around the bull, until he was in a favorable position he suddenly leaped from the pony and landed on the back of the infuriated bull. Grasping it by the horns he slowly forced its head downward until he had it helplessly choked. Then he jumped off and released the bull mounted his pony and rode away unscathed.

This performance is repeated every day now by Pickett, and while it is one of the most intensely thrilling acts in any arena today it is but one of many that go to make up a real Wild West show.

Among many crack Indian riders with the show is Minnie Sky Eagle, daughter of a Choctaw chief whose feats of daring, mounted on a bucking cow pony, have been the talk of every city where the show has been exhibited.

The troupe, all told, consists of about 500 performers, of whom about one-half are Indians. The Indians are under government protection and are guarded while on the road by Uncle Sam's inspectors.

In addition there are numerous Oklahoma cowgirls, who vie with the cowboys in acts of daring on horseback, in bronco busting and in roping and tying cows. The show also carries the largest herd of buffalo now in captivity, as well as the greatest number of the famous long-horned cattle that made Texas and Oklahoma famous years ago.

The members of Salaam Temple are working hard to make the show a big success. Big free street parades will be given each day, in which not only the performers of the show will take part, but also the members of the patrol in their gorgeous costumes.

A delayed advertisement brings only the aftermath of trade. It's the first call that captures the procession of customers.

MINNIE SKYEAGLE, WHOSE
DARING BUCKING COW PONY
FEATS ARE WIDELY PRAISED.

NEWARKERS PLAN FOR HOLY NAME CONVENTION.

More than forty Roman Catholic churches in the diocese of Newark and the diocese of Trenton were represented last night at the meeting of delegates from Holy Name societies to the Eucharistic Congress, which will open in Montreal, Canada, on Wednesday, September 7, and continue for a week. Monsignor Mooney, of the diocese of New York, presided at the meeting, which arranged for special trains to take the delegates to and from Montreal.

It is expected that upward of 50,000 Catholic laymen from all parts of the United States will march in the great street parade on Sunday, September 11. Monsignor Falconi, the papal delegate; Cardinal Gibbons, several hundred archbishops, bishops, monsignors and deans and several thousand priests are to take part. At 10:30 o'clock that Sunday morning a solemn pontifical high mass will be sung in the Notre Dame Cathedral. There were more than 600 delegates at the meeting last night.

Monsignor John A. Sheppard, of Jersey City, vicar-general of the diocese of Newark and administrator while Bishop O'Connor is absent in Europe, will call a meeting of all the delegates of the diocese next week. A meeting of the delegates from the diocese of Trenton will also be held.

A special train will leave Grand Central station, New York, on Saturday, September 10, and this will give New Jersey Catholics who desire to see the great parade in Montreal the next day an opportunity to do so. The last Eucharistic Congress was held at Cologne.

WASHINGTON CAMP INSTALLS.

The members of Washington Camp No. 48, Patriotic Order Sons of America, convened at 507 Orange street last evening. A new roster of officers for the ensuing term were installed and the delegates to the coming twenty-second annual State convention, which will be held in August, were instructed in their duties.

COULDN'T PREVENT BAD STONE IN OVERBROOK WORK

Inspector Knew for a Year Material Condemned Was Employed at Asylum.

Testifying that for fully a year in 1906-7 he knew that poor stone and stone that had been condemned by him as inspector of the Overbrook asylum work was being used, Herbert J. F. Bartlett told the Overbrook Appraisal Commission yesterday that he was powerless to stop its use.

Bartlett told the commission that he did his duty in the matter when he reported to the architects, Hurd & Sutton, that inferior stone, both in size and quality, was being used. Bartlett said he also told Richard E. Henningham, the general contractor, that poor stone was being used, but that no attention was paid to his protests.

Bartlett, who was indicated by the last grand jury in connection with the charge of conspiracy in a shortage of copper flashing at Overbrook, said he had been employed by the county from April, 1906, until March, 1909. He told the commission that he had been employed on the recommendation of Hurd & Sutton, by whom he was employed at the time. He also said that although he was paid by the county, all his dealings were with the architects. He had neither asked nor received any instructions from the building committee of the Board of Freeholders or the board itself.

Mr. Bartlett yesterday was accompanied by his counsel, former Sheriff Frank H. Sommer. No questions were asked him in relation to the copper flashing shortage investigated by the first April grand jury.

In summing up his views of the work at Overbrook during the three years he was there, he said that with the exception of the stone work he had mentioned he thought the construction was good and workmanlike.

Bartlett said as fast as he found small or inferior stone he would put a dab of paint on it and that later most of the defective stone was removed. He believed, however, that some of it got into the foundation construction and remained there.

MEET AFTER 35 YEARS.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 19.—Meeting for the first time since their arrival in this country from Germany thirty-five years ago, Max Reinberger, a merchant of this city; Irvin P. Reinberger, a wealthy lawyer of Pine Bluff, Ark.; and Benjamin F. Reinberger, a leading legal expert of St. Louis, held a family reunion here Sunday.

TAKE NOTICE.
Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes—Assessment on Real Estate.
The assessment books will be open for inspection from the first Tuesday in July to the last Tuesday in July, from 9 a. m. to 12 m. All taxpayers are requested to call at this office to ascertain the value placed upon their real estate. John L. Carroll, president.
—Adv.